

18-22.8.2017

University of TURKU
FINLAND

European Ornithologists' Union Conference

2017

PLENARY SPEAKERS

- Peeter Hõrak, University of Tartu, Estonia
- Erkki Korpimäki, University of Turku, Finland
- Peter L. Pap, Babes-Bolyai University, Romania
- Jane Reid, University of Aberdeen, UK
- Pat Monaghan, University of Glasgow, UK
- Henri Weimerskirch, CEBC-CRNS, France

SYMPOSIA

- Exploring avian genomes to reveal hidden secrets in ornithology
- Evolutionary consequences of social information use in birds
- Hot N cold: Ecophysiological adaptations of migrants and residents
- Orientation and navigation of birds: recent advances
- Advances in our understanding of hormonal regulation of migratory traits
- Natal dispersal movements in resident bird species
- Forest management and bird conservation: research advances and future directions
- Plumage colour and behaviour
- Co-infection in free-living avian systems: malaria and beyond
- The form and function of birds' nests

20 oral sessions + poster sessions

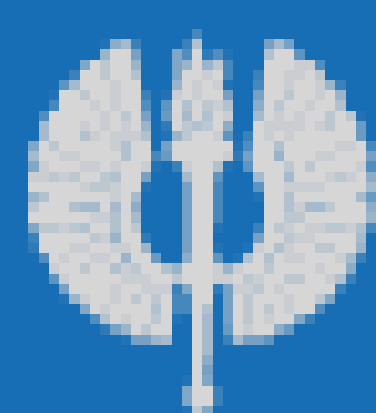

IMPORTANT DATES

- Abstract submission 2.1.–28.2. 2017
- Registration opens 1.3.2017

FIND US

www.utu.fi/eou

 #EOU2017

Turun yliopisto
University of Turku